Essay questions:

Using less than 250 words, please complete the following question: How will my education benefit the community in Hawai`i? (complete below or attach separate sheet)

Describe your greatest strength, specifically, your most consistently near-perfect performance in an activity. For example, Bill Gates might say his greatest strength is transforming technological innovation into successful commercial products. A Kumu Hula could say her ability to gracefully interpret the meaning of a song or chant using her hands and body motions was her strength. You may list two personal strengths, if your combined descriptions do not exceed 250 words. (complete below or attach separate sheet)

Support Network:

List the name and contact information of two people who will support you in achieving your educational goals. Choose someone willing to provide ongoing encouragement and work with you as a mentor or role model to help you reach your educational goals. Please inform these individuals that they will be invited to be part of the network developed to ensure your success.

In addition to submitting this application, each applicant must provide the following (all materials must be postmarked by April 30, 2009):

1. Letters of Recommendation

Students must provide two letters of recommendation from a teacher, administrator or other adult familiar with the student for at least one year. Relatives may not provide letters of recommendation.

2. A copy of the admission letter from university or community college (provisional acceptance letter is adequate).

3. Any of the following transcripts that apply to you, which should be mailed directly from the issuing institution:

- All 2009 high school seniors must ask the school or schools they attend(ed) to mail official school transcripts directly to the HCCNC Scholarship Program. High school transcripts must cover at least six semesters.
- Currently enrolled undergraduate and graduate students must ask their school to submit their official transcript, covering all credit courses from the most recently completed term.
- Applicants not currently enrolled in a school should have their most recent official high school or college transcripts sent by the school they most recently attended.
